

Blitzstrom Wholesale & Solar Engineering

Blitzstrom is an international wholesaler in photovoltaics. We cater exclusively to professional installers, dealerships and system integrators.

Through our affiliates that are situated all over Europe we have created an extensive support network for our customers. Our success is based on speed, reliability, availability and technical know-how.

At Blitzstrom, we have an experienced team of engineers and architects on our staff. Comprehensive project development and planning services can be provided in-house, without external contractors. This includes individual design of the PV arrays to maximize surface utilization, static engineering and the design of specialized mounting hardware. We are in close contact with the manufacturers and can relay operational requirements directly to the respective design teams of solar modules and inverters.